Spotlight Student: Vihaang – A Young Explorer with Big Dreams

In this month's spotlight, we are proud to introduce Vihaang from KG2-D – a truly exceptional young learner who has amazed us all with his remarkable talents and deep curiosity. At just KG2 level, Vihaang speaks confidently about space — from naming the planets to even talking about the distance between them! His love for numbers is equally impressive; he can count up to 1000 and can accurately answer what comes before and after any three-digit number when asked orally.

What sets Vihaang apart is his unique choice of interests. Unlike most children his age, he isn't fond of cartoons. Instead, he chooses to spend his time watching informative videos about space or exploring creative crafts. What's more impressive is that he independently creates craftwork after watching tutorials — a reflection of his focus, creativity, and love for hands-on learning.

Vihaang recently moved to the UAE and began learning Arabic only a month ago. Yet, with no extra tuitions or parental support, he has already mastered all the Arabic letters and can write his name in Arabic all by himself — a true testament to his determination and love for learning.

We are incredibly proud to have such a gem among our KG2 students. Vihaang is not only a bright student but also a source of inspiration for his peers and teachers alike. We look forward to seeing where his talents and passion for learning will take him in the future!

Parental Testimonial

Vihang was never drawn to cartoons or excessive screen time. Instead, he prefers watching educational content related to space or craft activities. He spends most of his time engaging in hands-on tasks like making crafts, coloring, painting, and learning through creative play. He has always had healthy habits, including eating meals without screen distractions

Why do First 6 Years Matter The Most for Your Child's Brain?

The early years aren't just important—they're critical for your child's brain development. By age 3, a child's brain is already 80% developed, and by 6, it reaches nearly 90%. These years lay the foundation for how your child thinks, learns, and behaves for life.

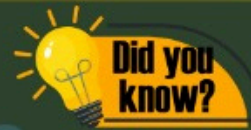

Every experience—touching, talking, listening, playing—builds tiny brain connections called synapses. Positive moments like reading, bonding, and pretend play strengthen these connections, while too much screen time or stress can slow things down.

In these early years, your child develops essential life skills such as language, memory, attention, emotional control, motor coordination, and problem-solving.

As a parent, you play the biggest role:

- ✓ Talk and listen daily
- ✓ Read books together
- ✓ Encourage pretend play
- ✓ Offer hands-on tasks like pouring or sorting
- ✓ Try Brain Gym exercises for better focus
- ✓ Be patient and responsive to their emotions

Every small activity builds a stronger brain. You're not just helping your child grow—you're shaping the person they'll become.
